WILSON FIRM FOR HIS PLAN

Believes it is Only Proper Way to Avert Big Strike.

PLEAS OF SHIPPERS

Conference With Railway Heads Will Be Resumed Today or Tomorrow Morning

Washington, Aug. 21—Fifty railroad presidents who are now in Washingto nare again in conference with President Wilson at the White House, this afternoon. They went to the White House at 2:30 o'clock at the urgent request of the President, though they had not expected to see him today and probably not tomorrow.

Washington, Aug. 20.— President Wilson's week of confrences with ranking officials of the railroads and leaders of their employes threatening a nation-wide strike are believed by all parties to the controversy to have brought the situation to a point where decisive developments may be expected with'n a few days.

While the negotiations took no actual forward step yesterday, the President replied indirectly to contentions of the road officials that the principle of arbitration would be endangered by his plan for putting the eight-hour basic day into effect while a commission investigates its practicability and passes upon other points at issue. In a telegram made public at the White House the President declared he held firmly to arbitration as a principle and that his plan strengthened rather than weakened it. He also said that some means must be found to prevent the existing situation from ever arising again.

Meantime the road officials, who have tentatively refused to accept Mr. Wilson's proposal, continued conferences among themselves. The labor leaders, who already have approved the proposal, marked time awaiting a definite decision from the employers.

President Wilson said: "What I am proposing does not weake nor discredit the principle of arbitration. It strengthens it, rather. It proposes that nothing be conceded except the eight-hour day to which the whole economic movement of the time seems to point, and the immediate creation of an agency for determining all arbitrable elements in this case in the light, not of prediction or forcasts, but of established and ascertained facts."

GERMANS ARE BEATEN BACK

French Capture Fortified Wood and Much War Material

HEAVY TEUTON LOSS

Berlin in Statement Says 200,000 Allies's Troops Took Part in Friday's Attacks.

Paris, Aug. 21. —The Germans made a second desperate attempt to re-capture the village of Fleury, three and one-half miles northeast of Verdun, last night, attacking in force after spraying the Frerch position with liquid fire.

The war office announced today that French barrage infantry fire stopped the attack short, inflicting serious losses on the enemy.

"At some points on our front, between the Somme and the Ancre, local bombing encounters occurred last night, but the enemy made no serious attempt to recover ground we captured Friday.

"On other parts of the line we carried out successful raids, making some captures, including a machine gun, and inflicting a considerable number of casualties on the enemy."

Berlin, Aug. 20.—British attacks on the Somme front Saturday were repulsed, says today's official statement. On the Verdun front the French penetrated the village of Fleury.

PASSAGE OF ARMY BILL

Fitting Climax to 20 years' Service of Virginia Congresman.

(By Special Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—The passage by Congress at this session of the Army bill, commonly referred to as the National Defense Act; the Volunteer Army law; the Aviation Corps law; the Military Academy bill; doubling the unmber of cadets, and several other bills of prime importance in building up our army, was a fitting climax to the twenty-years' service in Congress of James Hay, who was the prime factor in the formation of this group of legislation.

Mr. Hay will conclude on Sept. 30 twenty years of service in the House of Representatives from the Seventh district of Virginia. On Sept. 30th his resignation as Congressman becomes effective and he will become Judge of the United States Court of Appeals to which he was appointed by President Wilson. In all that time he has been one of the leading members of that body and during the past six years as chairman of the Military Affairs committee has taken the principal part in framing legislation in regard to our army, the enormous importance of which time alone can fully illustrate.

The legislation prepared and put through Congress this session, most of it personally written by Mr. Hay, will work such enormous reorganization in the methods, equipment, personnel and system of the army that considerable time will be required to fully realize its benefits. When that time comes it can safely be predicted that those who have criticized Mr. Hay in the past six months in connection with this legislation, will then be strongest in his praise.

ALEXANDRIAN IS KILLED

Frank Meade and M. J. Gooch Victims of Frightful Accident in Richmond.

Henry J. Gooch, 21 years old, and Frank Meade, 22, the former of Richmond and the latter of Alexandria, were instantly killed this morning about 12:30 o'clock, when they stepped off the Seaboard Air Line train known as the first 61, and were struck a moment later by the Atlantic Coast Line train, the second 61, in the Acca train yards in Richmond. The young men were members of the Richmond Blues, one of Richmond's crack military organizations, and had been encamped for a number of weeks at the Virginia mobilization camp, Camp Henry Carter Stuart. They visited their parents in this city yesterday and boarded the Seaboard train that left Alexandria last night at 9:47 o'clock.

Upon reaching the Acca yards at Richmond, the nearest stop to Camp Stuart on the showgrounds, they stepped off the train and owing to the moving about of freight trains near them, stepped back on the track, when they were killed by the second train 61.

Young Meade's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Statius Meade, who live on Braddock Heights, and Gooch's father is the chief telegraph operator of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad, of the Washington Southern Railway. Gooch had formerly been employed as switchman for the R. F. & P., and up to a short time ago was wire inspector at Lorton, Fairfax County, until he joined the Richmond National Guard.

No funeral arrangements have been made, but the bodies will likely be brought to this city and interment will take place here.

GOOD ORDER IN THE CITY

No Cases of Disorder Reported in Alexandria During Past Forty-eight Hours.

Although Alexandria has grown during the past year and a half to double its former size, the serenity of the present summer, that is so far as actual cases of disorder are concerned, is the cause of comment. There was virtually but one case of violation of law reported by the police from Saturday night to this morning, and that of a trivial nature. A man operating an automobile had made too short a turn at the intersection of King and St. Asaph streets. He acknowledged that he had violated the law, but more thoughtlessly than deliberately, and paid one dollar fine. In this connection it may be stated that this act is often noticed by people passing along the streets. It is dangerous, as a machine coming from an opposite direction,, while hugging the right, should it not have room to pass the turning auto, a collision would be inevitable.

The policemen are still on the hunt for persons who have failed to secure licenses for dogs. Two colored persons were before the Police Court this morning charged with harboring unlicensed canines. They alleged that they were not the owners of the animals, but the names of those responsible for them were secured and should no license be obtained they will be made to face the court.

In returning to the tranquility of the city, it may again be said that Alexandria is twice the size it was in the early part of 1915. A year and a half ago part of the new high school building would have been in Alexandria county, ouaside the city limits That structure is now in the center of the present city of Alexandria. Notwithstanding the increased area the members of the police force manage to keep good order.

RUSSIANS DRAW NEARER KOVEL

Advance in Stokhod Sector and Capture Two Villages.

PIERCE GERMAN LINE

Battle Raging in Carpathians, With Both Petrograd and Berlin Claiming Successes.

London, Aug. 20.—Both Petrograd and Berlin, in official statements regarding the eastern front, claim successes in the fighting that has been raging without pause for the last 24 hours on the Stokhod sector, between Rudka and Cherwishe, about 40 miles northeast of Kovel. The Russian War Office reports the capture of Tcherischeff and of the village of Tobol, three miles to the west and on the western bank of the Stokhod.

This village was officially reported in Russian hands in Saturday's Petrograd statement, but since has changed hands several times. "It finally remained in our possession," says yesterday's report, which adds that six officers and 600 men were made prisoners.

Berlin, on the other hand, reports a successful Teuton counter-attack in this region and the capture of six officers and 367 men. The German War Office statement adds that the "combat still continues" and indirectly admits Russian progress by referring to Russian troops "which pushed forward on the western bank," although it is asserted that Muscovite attacks here were repulsed.

By the capture of Tobol the Russians have driven a three-mile deep wedge into Gen. von Linsingen's front on this line and are now endeavoring to widen the breach.

A slight Russian advance is claimed by Petrograd 29 miles to the east, on the River Bailly Czaremosz, near the town of Dol-Hopole.

Berlin reports the capture by German troops of the Kreta Heights, south of Zabie, in the foothills of the Carpathions, and the repulse of Russian counter-attacks at Magura Height, to the southeast.

Russian troops were driven from advanced trenches east of Kiselin, in Volhynia, southeast of Kovel, according to the German statement.

A battle rages on the northeastern slope of the Czerna-Hora ridge, where the Russians are trying to break through to open their road to the Hungarian plain. Their attacks from due east of Tartar, or Jablonica Pass, temporarily abandoned because of the stubborn Teuton resistance, the Muscovites now are trying to force the pass by sweeping down upon the defenders from the north. Vienna tonight asserts that "strong attacks," broke down under the Teuton barrier fire. The Austrian War Office also claims to repulse of a Russian attack south of Horozonka, where the Russians are endeavoring to pierce Count von Bothmer's front east of Halicz.

Andrew Carnegie arrived at Bar Harbor, Maine, yesterday in such feeble condition he found it difficult to walk without support. He arrived on his yacht, The Surf, which he boarded for a cruise two weeks ago off Noreton Point, Conn.

GUARDS WILL RETURN SOON

To Be Demobilized by November 1, Unless Negotiations Fail.

CITIZEN ARMY 160,000

Commands Still in Training Camps Going to Border if Railroad Trouble is Settled.

Washington, Aug. 20—Unless the joint commission for the settlement of all issues between the United States and Mexico fails to come to an amicable understanding, the National Guardsmen now on the border, will be ordered to return to their home States and will be demobilized about November 1.

This is information which it is claimed comes from an absolutely reliable source. Definite plans for the return of the State troops have not been made, of course. Any such arrangement would be obviously premature at this stage of the Mexican negotiations, but a tentative program has been discussed, predicted upon the success of the joint commission's efforts.

This tentative program contemplates the release of the State troops just as soon as a peace treaty with Mexico iz effected; that is, as soon as the administration is convinced that the defacto government is in a position to safeguard the rights of foreigners in Mexico and to prevent further raids across the American line.

President Wilson, it is known, does not want to keep the Guardsmen in the field one day longer than national necessities require. He would like to be able even now to assure all of the State troops that they will be home at least a month before Thanksgiving, but such assurance cannot be given as long as any of the issues between the United States and Mexico remain unsettled.

The tentative plan of ordering the National Guard home some time around November 1, will not interfere in any way with the decision of the administration to dispatch all remaining guard commands now under orders to the border. Only the uncertainties in connection with the threatened railroad strike hold up the troop movements. Once a settlement of the wage dispute is effected, the militia organizations now in training will be moved to the front.

From the same source comes the definite information that there are now 104,000 National Guardsmen scattered along the Mexican border. The War Department has consistently refused to give out any figures as to the exact number of militiamen now in the field, the number in camp in the various states and the number which were excluded for the original mobilization order.

It is learned, moreover, that approximately 40,000 guardsmen are still in training camps. The recent order dispatching all equipped units to Texas affected 35,000 men. This would indicate that about 5,000 other guardsmen are unprepared for immediate campaigning.

The further fact leaked out that 19 state regiments for one reason or another were not included in the mobilization order. Most of these commands are far undermanned, while a few of them were left out for strategic purposes. It seems, therefore, from the information available today that there are in round numbers 145,000 National Guardsmen under arms and something like 15,000 more in reserve. This would give the country a militia army of 160,000 men, of which 145,000 will be seasoned soldiers by the time they are demobilized.

The strength of the National Guard six months ago was scarcely more than 125,000 men, which means that recent recruiting has been unexpectedly successful.

ADDRESS ON LIBERTY

Speaker Declares Drastic Sunday Laws Out of Harmony With Gospel.

"Liberty" was the subject of the lecture discoursed upon at the gospel tent last night by Elder C. S. Longacre, who is the Religious Liberty secretary of the Seventh Day Adventists. He took for his text, "And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." Lev. 25:10. Among other things the speaker said: "Although this text was written over 3,500 years ago, yet it is God's message to us to-day, and is certainly needed in this wonderful nation of ours. The speaker referred to the old Puritanical Sunday laws which our forefathers had enforced after the landing of the Pilgrim fathers from the land of religious persecution to a land where we could worship God according to the dictates tates of our own conscience. Those laws worked great handicaps to the people when they were not allowed to saddle a horse to ride on Sunday unless they were going to church, and if they rode for recreation they were arrested and had to pay a heavy fine to the church. A man did not dare to kiss his wife on Sunday, which if he did would be doing his own pleasure and therefore had to be arrested and pay a fine. Neither could a person twiddle his thumbs or fingers, which if he did would be doing extra work, and therefore had to pay a certain fine. Laws were so enforced that people had to go to church whether they wanted to or not. Thus we see that the church was making hypocrites of the people instead of Christians, which all Sunday laws, or any laws which are enforced to make men religious will do. Religion can not be forced upon any one, for millions have been tortured in every conceivable way and have been put to death, yet they would cling to their faith. Do you see to what extremes such people will go, in their zeal to force others to observe Sunday? All such laws are infringements upon the natural rights of man.

"It is impossible to make people religious by law. The church cannot fight in Caesar's armor any more than David could in Saul's. Yet to-day we see the professed churches of Christianity begging the loan of Caesar's armor to enforce civic righteousness and religious institutions.

"These drastic Sunday laws are all out of harmony with gospel principles. They are religious relics and superstitions, beliefs of the dark ages. They are entirely out of harmony with modern times and the American principes of civil government. Under the American government all citizens are supposed to enjoy freedom of worship and liberty of conscience, whether Christian, Jew, Mohamedan or agnostic. But the constitutional guarantees of civil and religious freedom to worship, or not to worship, are entirely set aside in certain localities where the church element dominates politics and matters of state. The rights of the individual conscience are made subject to the sentimnt of the majority, or frequently a domineering minority.

We are making history rapidly these days. We are reviving old policies. The church and state are working together, each to further the other's end. We are beginning where they began in Constantine's day. We are beginning a career which leads backward instead of forward. Paternalism and institutionalism are being woven into organic law and enthroned in judicial halls. Individual liberty — liberty of conscience, liberty of speech, liberty of action,—which gave original energy, safety and prosperity to the American government, are often treated as empty platitudes—when the principles of the individual are cited in defense of his constitutional rights. Let us pray for liberty, and that it may continue in this peaceful nation of ours.

The subject tonight will be "The United States in Prophecy."

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Erminie Boudwin, 41 years old, of 1400 L street northwest, while on a pleasure trip on the Potomac in the family launch, "Jane" yesterday,, slipped and fell from the deck of the craft and was drowned.

Mrs. Boudwin with her husband, J. E. Boudwin, a passenger conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, and two friends, left Washington in the afternoon for a cruise. When opposite the War College, in the main channel of the river Mrs. Boudwin, in attempting to descend from the upper deck, slipped, and fell overboard. She sank immediately and did not rise to the surface. At the time of the accident, which occurred about 5:30 o'clock, Mr. Boudwin was attending the engine and steering the launch.

Every effort was made to affect a rescue, but without avail.

The Boudwins came to Washington from Vinestead, Del., about a year ago. Besides her husband Mrs. Boudwin is survived by a son and a daughter.

SALONIKI HOLDS THE KEY.

As is observed by the Danville Register, if the Entente Allies really have three-quarters of a million of soldiers ready to take the offensive with Saloniki as their base, it is not unlikely that thence will start the move, which will avenge the wrongs of Serbia, enforce against Bulgaria a terible, penalty for her racial treachery, drive a wedge of steel between Turkey and her Teutonic allies open the back door both by land and sea to Constantinople, and reduce the two Germanic empires to reliance on their own resources of men and supplies.

There is no play on the wide chessboard of war which if successfully executed would promise more immediate or far-reaching results. It would be co-operative, though at a long distance, with the thrusts that Russia is making from two points d'appui on the vital lines of Ottoman defence, would almost certainly end Roumania's precarious neutrality and bring her fine army into the field on the side of the Allies, and would put a quietus on pro-German agitation in Greece, As an example of grand strategy it would cast into the shade any operation yet undertaken by either of the belligerents, for it would have the prospect of entirely disintegrating the elaborate plans of the Germanic league on all the theatres of war, and would in all likelihood compel the Kaiser either to abandon Bulgaria and Turkey to their fate, or to relinquish his grasp of those acquisitions in the West, for retention of which he has paid an almost incalculable price in blood. From Saloniki lead the roads that pierce the heart of the Balkan country. And advance by them in heavy force would alter the aspect of affairs on every battle front in Europe and Asia. Will the Allies improve their opportunity to strike a decisive blow at the weakest points in the armor of their foes? General report represents them as about to deliver it. If so, in our judgment, it will usher in the beginning of the end.

MAN'S DECREASING HEIGHT.

The Indianapolis News says in recent years anatomists have shown in a practical way that the height of a man or woman can be increased to a considerable extent by appliances for stretching. These extensions, however, have only been of inches or fractions of an inch, and giants have not been, nor are they likely to be, developed by artificial means. It was a French savant, named Henrion, who, 200 years ago, gave to the world authoritative statements as to the height of Adam and Eve. He said that the father of the race was 123 feet 9 inches high and Eve 118 feet 9 inches. He noted that from the creation of these enlarged editions of humanity, degeneration had been rapid; that Noah was only 27, Abraham only 20, and Moses but 13 feet in height. Perhaps the most gigantic story on record is that concerning an immense skeleton, said to have been found in Sicily, which measured 300 feet in length.

Moses, according to the above speculation, was 13 feet high. Most Alexandrians have at one time or another examined Egyptians mummies in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. They are the remains of men who flourished in the days of the Pharaohs, who were temporaneous with Moses, and ma yhave seen the great Jewish lawgiver. These ghastly relics show that people at that time in the world's history were of the height of men now living.

DIPLOMACY THAT "FAILED"

"The chief function of diplomacy is prevention," says Mr. Hughes, in assailing the President's foreign policy, "and in this our diplomacy failed." Let us see if it did, says the New York World:

Karl H. von Wiegand, a correspondent in Berlin, is at the western front where the most terrific battle of modern history is in progress. In his dispatch from the German headquarters printed a day or two ago there was this vivd description of a hospital scene:

"It was a sizzling hot day. The Red Cross flags floated lazily, many of them presenting a depressing and gruesome picture. The white-aproned surgeons were working over the operating tables, calmly and coolly, steady with knife or needle, even where the places were under fire. Black and white lie sometimes together, the bluish-gray of the French, the yellow khaki of the English, the greenish field gray of the Germans, side by side. The anguish and misery of suffering and pain transforms enemies of a few hours ago into a common brotherhood. From the operating tables come moans, sometimes cries. Amputated legs, arms and fingers lay about. Faces were distorted with agony. The atmosphere and heavy, sickening odor of blood and wounds is inseparable from such places, but especially so on a hot day."

The world observer: This and thousands of similar tragedies have been spared to the United States by the patient and persistent diplomacy of President Wilson; yet Charles E. Hughes says the President's diplomacy has failed.

Failed in what? It most certainly has not failed in keeping the United States out of unnecessary war, and that service is the chief service of all diplomacy.

European diplomacy failed in that vital thing. American diplomacy succeeded. Yet Mr. Hughes praises European diplomacy and sneers at the diplomacy of his own country because the men who have carried out the foregn policy of the United States happen to be Democrats and not Republicans.

It would have been very easy for President Wilson to push the United States into war. He could have had war with Germany or war with Mexico or war with both. Instead, he persisted in employing all the resources of diplomacy to maintain American rights by peaceful methods. War was his last resort, not his first resort, and diplomacy succeeded.

If Mr. Wilson had been thinking about politics, if he had been "100 per cent a candidate" instead of 100 per cent patriot, he would have welcomed the opportunity for war. That would have meant his certain re-election, for the American people will never change Presidents in the midst of war. Nobody would have wanted the Republican nomination, Mr. Hughes least of all.

President Wilson refused to buy a re-election with war. He refused to sacrifice the lives of tens of thousands of American boys to still the silly partisan clamor that he was "too proud to fight." He gave to the United States more than a policy of triumphant diplomacy. He gave to it an exhibition of moral courage with which Mr. Hughes cannot well afford to invite comparisons.

GERMAN PRISONERS TALK.

During the civil war in the United States a northern illustrated paper contained a picture representing a southern officer in a trench compelling negroes to load a cannon under the fire of Berdin sharpshooters. It is useless to say that no such thing ever happened. But from the leakage of Germans recently captured on the Verdun front it appears that Teutonic officers make themselves "at home" in trenches while forcing privates to places of imminent danger. Some prisoners do not hesitate to say that men are virtually allowed to shift for themselves while acting targets for the allies.

'For the first time during the war," writes a correspondent of a Paris newspaper, who had opportunity to talk to Germans captured in one of the battles on the Somme, "have I found among prisoners any sign of failing morale. There were prisoners there of ages varying from eighteen to forty-eight, fathers who had been defeated side by side with their sons. In many of them I found weariness of the useless efforts, weariness of the incessant traveling from one front to another and moral weariness because of loss of confidence in their officers and leaders. For the first time did I hear words like these:

"We were at Hardcourt in the Sabot wood, when we were subjected to a dreadful bombardment. The shells literally fell on the ground in heaps. We were there without any cover whatever. The few dugouts were occupied by our officers, who remained under ground. We did not know were to go, so we ran in disorder along the long communicating trench, attempting to escape from the avalanche. Not one word of command was given..."

"The tone in which the Teuton spoke showed plainly enough that until then he had had another conception of the duties of an officer. It was the first time he took their true measure, but he was not alone in doing so. Others were uttering substantially the same complaint."

James L. Strother, extensive land owner, died Wednesday, near Delaplane, Fauquier County, from apoplexy.

Raging for three hours, flames destoyed a geat portion of the business section of Drake's Branch, Charlotte County, yesterday.

While bathing in the Payankitank River, near West Point, Clifton and Luther Farinholt, small son of C. C. Farinholt, of Gloucester, were drowned a few days ago. The boys had gotten on a railroad tie that was floating in the river, and, drifting out to deep water, became panic stricken and were drowned before help could reach them.

While endeavoring to rescue a pet kitten which had fallen into a tub of hot water at her home in Lynchburg a few days ago, Alice Elizabeth Welcher, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Welcher, accidentally lost her balance and fell into the tub, receiving fatal scalds about the left arm and breast which brought on convulsions and caused death.

The Henry R. Mallory, a passenger and freight steamer, building for the Mallory Steamshlp Company, was successfully launched at the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company Saturday. When completed in October he new steamer will ply between New York and Galveston. She is 439 feet long, fifty-four feet in beam and thirty-five feet deep, and is designed to make fourteen knots speed.

Jacob H. Holler, of Brookville District, near Lynchburg, has instituted suit against the district authorities to enjoin the board of supervisors of Campbell County from issuing $200,000 of the district's bonds for a proposed good-road improvement scheme. The People's National Bank, which bought the entire issue, is made a party defendan to the suit. It is understood that the real object of the suit is to test the legality of the proposed isud.

Officials of the Atlantic Coast Aeronautical station at Newport News were advised yesterday that the naval aeronautical inspection board would arrive on Monday to observe tests of a new twin motor convertable land and water flying machine. This machine is claimed to be the last word in aeroplane construction in this country. It carries two persons, and must attain a speed of ninety-five miles an hour and climb at the rate of 5,000 feet in ten minutes. It is of the tractor type, and is equipped with dual controls which work separately or in tandem.

The contest for Representative James Hay's seat in Congress from the Seventh Virginia district has narrowed down to a nip-and-tuck race between Judge Thomas W. Harrison, of Winchester, and State Senator H. H. Downing, of Front Royal. In view of the action of Floyd W. Weaver, of Page, and State Senator N. B. Early, of Greene, in withdrawing in favor of Senator Downing, the latter's friends now claim he has the lead on the Winchester jurist. A month ago it was believed that Judge Harison would have a walk-away race of it, but his chances have been affected by the field combining against him.

Konstantin Onou, the first secretary of the Russian Embassy, who arrived Saturday from Petrograd on board the Norwegian-American steamship Kristianiafjord, said there were 1,000,000 troops in and around the Russian capital who were all fine young men who had never been to the front. Mr. Onou said he had been in Moscow and the south of Russia and everywhere he went the people were delighted with the news of their victories.

Cardinals and Carendon Yesterday Winners.

Defeat Eagles and White Sox in Games of Championship Series.

Cardinals slipped one over on the Eagles 7 to 5 at the Union station ball lot yesterday afternoon in the only game to be played in this city in the amateur baseball championship of northern Virginia. Giovenatti, who did the slabbing for the winners was the hitting star of the game also getting a circuit drive, a triple, and a single in five times up. He also held his opponents down to five hits.

At Clarendon yesterday the Alexandria County Athletic Association nine defeated the White Sox of this city 6 to 3, and it looks as if the White Sox have lost all chance now of remaining in the running.

Rev. William B. Marye, evangelist, has been taken to Charleston, W. Va., Postoffice by inspectors, who accuse him of sending threatening letters to President Wilson. When taken before a United States Commissioner Marye admitted that he had written to President Wilson, urging him to prevent further munitions shipments to the entente allies.
